“Concentration and mental toughness are the margins of victory.” – Bill Russell

Sports are an excellent medium to help youngsters learn and develop life’s many valuable lessons. They teach students to respect the coach, teammates, opponents, referees. They learn to work together using the strengths and support each other towards a common goal. Students tend to come up with strategies to overcome obstacles. They also teach one to accept failure and work harder to achieve success. Keeping this in mind Kaveri house organized an Inter House Competition, ‘Basketball match’ to encourage students to develop concentration and life skills to face challenges.

Class X boys were in action on the basketball court. The match started with great enthusiasm. The match was held among the four house teams. The final match was between Godavari and Ganga house boys. Godavari house boys took control over the first quarter of the match as they adopted a good strategy of defence and took a lead fast. However the Ganga house boys were aggressive to counter attack and were successful in breaking the defence in the second quarter and emerged as winners.

Class X girls were equally enthusiastic for the match. The match commenced among cheers from the vast spectators who kept the energy meter high all throughout the match. The final match was between the Ganga and Kaveri house girls. The Ganga house girls had some success in keeping the Kaveri house girls point tally ticking over for the first quarter however the Kaveri house girls set the defence and made inroads under the basket and prevailed as worthy winners.
